Marine general

Over the past 50 years, international standards have been established to regulate the training of seafarers, as well as for protection of the marine environment. Unfortunately, accidents continue to occur.

Proper training of personnel, both onboard and onshore, is for that reason a key issue for any successful Safety Management System. Training is the keyword and infoWERK offers high-quality multimedia based training systems for the marine industry.

Our projects comply with the current industry standards such as IMO (International Maritime Organization), STCW 1995 (Standards of Training, Certification and Watchkeeping), SOLAS, ISM Code (International Safety Management Code) and other relevant standards.

Our Marine training products, either ready-to-use or developed and customized to your individual needs, reach from
